“ Hello,
I am so sorry to hear of the loss of your Mom. My prayers are with you and your families.
I wanted to share a memory I have of your mom that makes me smile. I saw her within the past few years, I had taken Mom over to get her hair done and we laughed about when she would cut my hair when I was younger. It was probably in late elementary years, I have naturally curly hair and when your Mom would cut my hair she would use the razor "so it would be nice and curly for church on Sunday". ..... I wanted straight hair like all the other girls. I eventually learned to appreciate my curls.
I actually had a male hairdresser cut my hair in the early 2000's who used a razor on it... with every pull of razor I would think of Annabelle and just smile.
You all are in my prayers. God Bless you all.

“ Gary and I were saddened to read about Annabelle's passing. We did not know she was ill. So sorry we missed visiting with her in her last days. Illness kept us from attending the funeral. Please accept our condolences and love.

“ Job 14 (13-15) Life, like a mist appears for just a day. Then disappears tomorrow. All that we are can quickly fade away. Replace with tears & sorrows. If a man should die, can he live again? He will call , the dead will answer. So have faith, for our God can make us stand & we shall live forever. Cecelia
