“ One fond memory I have of Jack is at the Cotton Bowl in Dallas, TX. At present can't remember who we were playing but one of the opposition's fans was drunk and rowdy. He would get in Jack's face and rant and rave. Back then we had air horns after about 4 times of Jack blasting the guy, he finally shut up and left. Jack also "assisted Wayne and me of dropping some water balloons from out window, got several people wet. Had lights off in the room, thank goodness, because someone from the hotel was trying to determine where the balloons were coming from. We left the room and went to Jack's room for a while.
