“ Thoughts and prayers for your family. Jack worked with my father, Al Horvath while at Daisy. He told while at my father's funeral, how much my Dad had influenced his work life. Gene and I enjoyed our bowling years with Jack. He will be missed. Chris Horvath Neil.

“ Jessica, Jason and Jared so sorry I just head about Jack's passing. I wish I would have known earlier. Jack trained me when I started at Daisy back in 1972. And then in the mid 1990's he got his real estate license and I had the privilege of training him as an agent. So we went full circle. Jack loved life and he always had fun. I remember playing basketball with him in the city league. Jack had the knack of getting the younger hot shot players up in the air and Jack would jump into them and draw a foul. The younger players would complain to the ref. Freddie Jones was a ref one night and players were complaining about Jack. Freddie just told them "Hey the old man knows how to play basketball". Jack got the biggest kick out of Freddie telling them that.

My wife Cindy worked for Jack at Daisy several years. Cindy and I went to a Razorback basketball game and as we were walking to our seats we heard this voice above the crowd noise, "Hi Cindy". Cindy looked at me and said "is that Jack Chandler? And sure enough clear across the arena their was Jack waving his arms and yelling at her. She was so embarrassed. But that was Jack. He may be gone but good memories will always be remembered.

“ Jessica - We just wanted to say that going to the Final Four with Jackie, was one of the greatest times daddy had. Both of them had a passion for those Hawgs. We know daddy also loved when Jackie asked him to go to The Masters. I would say those probably rank way up there. Those angels are going to have something to sing about when they hear those two calling the Hawgs up there. Our thoughts and prayers go out to you and your families.

“ *I first met Jack on the golf course in the late 60's for the Daisy golf league. My Dad Everett was Director of Purchasing for Daisy and my father had the privilege of working with Jack until his retirement in 1985. After college I was employed in the transportation industry and Jack became a customer of mine. I have shared many a lunch or dinner with Jack as well as several rounds of golf. Jack was a tough but fair customer and a true pleasure to do business with. He was a friend to all and will be missed. Rest in eternal peace my long time friend.

“ Uncle Jackie will be missed by all! We loved him dearly, he was always larger than life and always had a joke for me. Jackie and dad were always up to something as boys and I'm sure they are back at it now that they are together again.

Jackie and Danny were my heroes growing up. They used clothes hangers for basketball goals in their bedrooms and fought like cats and dogs but it was all in fun. We used to go riding out in the pasture and they used to pull limbs back and knock me off the horse. Lol They were great cousin's and I will always remember them.
