“ So sorry for your loss Darlyene and family. Jerry was a great man and I was proud to call him my special friend. Great memories of Jerry as us kids played together, went to school together, and maybe got into trouble together. He was such a strong person and he fought this last battle with all he had. He loved his family and was so proud of you all. So glad Jerry had such a special and loving wife whom Jerry praised all the time. The family has been there for Jerry every step of the journey. He worried about you over doing for him and was so concerned that it was taking quite the toll on you. He never wanted anyone to wait on him, he wanted to wait on and do for others. I could never have asked for a better friend. I know you all will greatly miss him, but he will be with you in your hearts and souls. Carolyn Guess Spell wanted me also to give you her condolences. God bless you. Anything Pete or I can do, please let us know. Love and prayers go forward with you as you continue on your journey here now. Hugs

“ How many of us could have endured what Jerry went thru the last two years? Very few I suspect. Hard to watch a man go from a big, strong person to a skinny guy all brought on by some sickness that brings the end. But, he did it, even though it was very, very hard and frustrating for him. And I know so very difficult for the family to watch him deteriorate.

My heart goes out to the family and I wish only the best for them.

Those grand kids sure liked to be around him.

I miss bike nights at 'Joses and walking around having him explain all the good and not so good points about all the other bikes.

Rest easy Army bud.
