“ I miss john very much, I will never forget this man.

“ John was a kind person and i always thought of his sister and neice when I saw him. They lived down the street when I first moved to Fayetteville and were very kind, sweet, modest, generous, and bright. And that sister, whom I will never forget made a thoughtful gesture of kindness and went out of her way to do it - toward the teenage stranger - died soon after. I want to send my best wishes and hope to this wonderful family. His neice was already a great person before she turned 16!

“ *To John's family members,
I am so saddened to hear of John's passing. I always thought of him as one of the smartest people I have had the privilege to know. He touched my heart with his gentle spirit and genuine concern for others. He was the most incredible war historian. I learned more about WWII and the "greatest generation " from him than any other source! He had a wonderful sense of humor and always made me laugh. I will miss his presence in the community that he so loved.
Please accept my condolences,

“ Sometimes you meet people who touch your life forever. That was John. I first meet him through my employer, who constantly changed her will and I had to witness. We often laughed about it. John was there for all my legal needs and was such a help with my family when dad passed. We became instant friends and I can honestly say I can't remember ever seeing him in a bad mood. Always smiling and talking about the happy things in life. I will miss seeing him jog around Wilson Park and never to busy to stop and chat. Miss you forever friend. Love ya.

“ I was both shocked & saddened by the news of John's passing. I was unable to attend his service but wanted to be there. I suppose I was his dental hygienist for 18 yrs., about that long! Saw him last in Jan. As others have mentioned, he was a sweet & gentle soul. He shared his love for visiting Australia & was part of the encouragement for my trip there in '07. We often spoke of military service (both my dad's, husband's & others)~~~he was a patriot! At one point in time, I discovered that he & my husband graduated together at Northside in Ft. Smith (& were even in the band together) knowing one another back then! He was so generous with compliments for my service to him as hygienist! Gone too soon; missed for certain. Niolene E Stanley

“ I knew John for many years and he was always unfailingly a sweet soul to encounter -- whether it was as manager of the ROTC or as Washington Co. election commissioner or just as another walker out enjoying our wonderful town. He will be missed.

“ Dear Burrow family -- I am sorry I did not get a chance to talk to you after the service -- I was talking to John on the Friday before his death -- he mentioned that he had just come from the doctor and it looked like he was ok -- problems catching his breath?! --Dr.said it was just anxiety and gave him a prescription! I was stunned to hear of his death on Monday -- I will really miss John -- we had been through a lot on election commission issues including cases that went up to the Arkansas supreme court!

I just learned about John's death. He was a treasure. John was the first person I met when I came to Fayetteville as a student at UA. He was funny and smart and gentle and always very kind. He married me and my ex-husband, singing (in the place of the wedding march) "Lloyd George knew my father," then years later after my divorce wrote me witty sweet emails that never failed to make me smile, in spite of the sadness I was struggling with. His letters of recommendation for me quoted Winston Churchill. I did not deserve such an angel in my life, but he came anyway. I will miss his sweet voice on the phone; his witty takes on everyday affairs and political affairs; his presence.

“ John was one of the dearest, kindest men I've ever had the privilege to know and I had 40+years for comparison. John and I met in 1973, long before law school was even a passing thought for either of us. I absolutely loved running into John at odd times. We always had wonderful, flirty, fun conversations, especially when the weather was nice and I was driving my convertible. John's passing is just such a sad loss both for me and for the community that he loved and served. I will miss him very much.

“ John was a tremendously kind person. He helped me out many times, never asking for anything in return. The maddest I ever saw him was when I had him serve as a witness to a will signing. In order to establish clarity of thought by the testator, I asked him who the president was. He shook his head with discussed, and said "it's that Muslim Obama, but it shouldn't be!" John's face turned bright red. He signed for him, but when my client was gone, John let me have it for putting him in a situation where he couldn't rightly standup and defend his views. I have stopped asking that question! John will be greatly missed. He was a gentleman in every sense of the word.

“ I struggle to think of another person who exuded more genuine friendliness than John Burrow--and cannot recall a single instance of encountering him when a wide smile wasn't spread across his face. Such enthusiasm he brought to every conversation--but most of all encouragement. John made you feel as though what you had to say was worthwhile and valuable. We are so lucky to have basked in his warmth.

“ Oh my dear friend John! You slipped away before I could say goodbye.

Luckily, I had the good fortune of visiting with John at Winter CLE at the Law School just a few days before his passing. I can personally verify every virtuous thing that has been said or spoken about him since. He was my dear friend for well over a decade, and we must have easily surpassed 5,000 hours of conversation together (this is a conservative estimate)!

Our community has suffered a great loss. So many of us will feel it for a very long time. There are a million more things I could say in praise of our departed friend, but I'll sum it like this: John dearly loved people and the place he chose to call home - Fayetteville.

So long for now, my friend. I am really looking forward to our next talk!

“ John used to sit with me on my porch swing on lazy summer afternoons and we'd share all kinds of ideas and news and jokes and gossip. Later when I revisited Fayetteville I seemed to always run into him somewhere in town and we'd catch up on our respective lives. I always looked forward to the next time I'd sit and talk with John on a bench on the square or on the street somewhere in town. We never ran out of things to say to each other. I will miss those conversations about everything and nothing. I will miss my long time friend John whose heart was always open and warm and kind. Andrea Bevernitz

“ John will be missed. I always enjoyed his occasional drop in to my office when I was Assistant City Attorney of Fayetteville and our discussions on the news of the day. “ Words fail me. John was my co-worker for 10 years, my attorney on numerous occasions, my dear friend for 40 years. My affection, respect, and admiration for him is boundless. I saw him often and he never failed to brighten my day with a smile, a hug, a compliment, an inquiry as to my family's well being. He was a safe harbor in stormy seas. He was of my tribe.

“ I considered John a dear friend. I first met him at The Restaurant on the Corner. In the last few years, John joined our lunch group on Friday, and our seminar in the afternoon. Often, I took him home and always enjoyed our one on one conversations. I don't think anyone enjoyed my oldest daughter's wedding more than John because it was a military wedding. My husband and I lived next door to John in the 70's and got to know him then. Later, we chose him as our lawyer and got caught up on missing years and shared friends. His reputation was excellent, and all who met him had very nice things to say about his commitment to any case, issue, or endeavor. In my mind I can still see him at ROTC on Dickson St. We will miss his peripatetic figure walking about our town, always as if on a mission. He will be missed.
