“ Karen and I shared a love of library service and of children's literature. Karen encouraged new writers to become better writers. Her children's books still resonate today, and, in fact, I recently ordered her easy reader, Hot Dog on TV, for my two granddaughters, who both entered kindergarten this fall and are already reading. Karen's kind, generous, and creative presence will be sorely missed. My sincere condolences to the Taha family.

“ Karen was one of the few elementary librarians when I started teaching in Springdale. Her son Sharif was one of my students at Lee Elementary . She helped push for the library program for the school district to expand. She was very helpful to all the library media specialist.

“ Karen and I were friends for many years. Our children played together at a younger age, Karen and I baby-sat each other's children from time to time, and our families shared in many ways. We are saddened by Karen's death, and our thoughts and prayers are with the family. Edna and John Rothwell, Johnny, Sharon, and Chris.

“ I first met Karen Taha around the age of 10. She was the mediator of a reading competition called Battle of the Books for elementary school children. She left a lasting impression on me because she treated me, a child, as a person with thoughts and valuable opinions. She was kind, sincere and had quite a sense of humor.

Later, I found myself reintroduced to her as a teenager through friendships with her children.

In adulthood, I came to realize her contributions to her community and her creativeness and dedication to the advancement of reading in children.

She always had a smile and a kind word whenever we saw each other, even in passing.

My sincere condolences to the Taha family.

“ Karen made my PhD in Industrial Engineering possible . Her sons and my sons, David & Alan Lane, were similar in ages. She helped my boys go to Boys Club, take basketball lessons etc. while I worked to complete my degree under her husband Hamby Taha's guidance. I and my boys are forever grateful. God Bless her family during this difficult time. Lee Lane

“ I met Katen when we were roommates at the hospital when Maisa was born. I had birthed my preemie daughter two days before. We discovered we lived only a mile or so apart & had boys starting kindergarten together in the fall. We became friends & have stayed in touch for 40+ years. I will miss her dearly as she is irreplaceable! She was one of the most loving, giving, full of grace & intelligent souls I have ever known. May she Rest In Peace.

“ So sorry for the loss of such an intelligent, kind and generous human being. These qualities are in such short supply these days that Karen's departure will be felt far beyond her immediate circle of family and friends.

“ I admired Karen so much. I had the opportunity to travel with the Taha's. She and I had many adventures in Mexico while our husbands taught. I will always cherish that time.
