Eddie, just want to convey our deepest sorrow at the loss here on earth of your beloved wife Mace. We only knew her for a short time, but each time we visited, she left a sweet fragrance of gentleness, graciousness and love that lingered around us. May our Lord bless you and your family with deep peace and comfort in the days to come. You are loved. Wayne and Pam Pope.

I have sweet memories of seeing Mace pick blueberries on our blueberry farm, ever vigilant to make sure none on the ground were going to waste. She was careful in tending to a crop and I'm sure careful in tending to her family. It was also sweet to see her accompanying you, Eddie, to Gideon meetings and becoming a member of the Auxiliary of the Gideons in her later years. She was a steady companion and showed a sweet and patient spirit. What a blessing to share a love for the Lord! We are praying for you, Eddie, and for the family.

*Eddie, Michael and I are sorry for your loss of Mace. We didn't get to know her well, but glad we got to meet both of you at the Schmeiding Center group. She seemed like a kind and gentle soul, and I am sure she knew how much you loved her. With prayers,
