“ I was close friends with Ralph. We met at Fayetteville High School, and he became active in my church. We spent a lot of time together just hanging out and having fun. He had a great sense of humor, and we shared a lot of laughs. He was a very skilled photographer, and I always enjoyed his work. He had a very good eye for composition, lighting, etc. We stayed close during college years and young adulthood. He kept his faith even when life was hard, and we sometimes relied on each other to get through difficult times. He was best man at my wedding.

One of my favorite memories with Ralph was when I was home one summer and I saw a poster for a concert in southwest Missouri with Herman's Hermits, an old group from the 60s. The concert was that same day in the evening. I immediately thought of Ralph, so I called him, and he agreed to go with me. We jumped in the car and made a mad dash to the concert. We had a great time, and it would not have been nearly as much fun without him.

Ralph was a kind soul, and I will miss him.
