“ To the Shrum Family:

May you have peace and comfort even though you have lost a dear loved one. Death is a painful situation for all families, yet the hope one has is to once again see their dear loved one by means of the resurrection. (Acts 24:15) During this time the 'dead will live again.' (Isaiah 26:19)

May consolation be received by means of visits from family and friends and prayer to our dear heavenly Father which can help you endure this trying time. By means of his Word you also can learn not only the purpose of life, but what God will do to restore humans and this earth to His original purpose.
